

Celebrating 800 Years of Magna Carta: Symbol of Freedom Under the Law Around the World

June 15, 2015 marks the 800th anniversary of the Magna Carta.

In celebration of this historic event, the Bunker Hill Community College Library is sponsoring a reading of the Magna Carta in the College's D Lounge on June 15, 2015 from 12Noon to 1PM.

For more resources on this topic, you can visit the Library to access more resources on the topic. We have books, eBooks, articles and online streaming films on the topic.

Please visit us on the third floor of the E-building in Charlestown or visit us online at: <http://www.bhcc.mass.edu/library>

To find books, eBooks and online films on the Magna Carta, you should search in the library's catalog. Look for the orange square on the library's homepage that says Library Catalog. The web address is: <http://bunkerhill.noblenet.org/eg/opac/home?locg=7>

In addition, the library has many databases. Databases are located here: <http://www.bhcc.mass.edu/library/databases/>

A couple of good databases to use for this subject are:

- World History in Context is a good database to use for this subject.
- Military & Government Collection

To view online streaming films, please access the Films on Demand (<http://proxy16.noblenet.org/login?url=http://digital.films.com/Portal/Playlists.aspx?aid=8138>) database.

There are no entire films on the Magna Carta, but some of the films have Magna Carta sections. Search on the term "Magna Carta" and you will find these.
